Be great to put like minded riders and levels of rider in groups together Always easier if you're with people who get you and your issues and can be empathetic to each other

You have done a great job... thank you.:)

I used to enjoy the riding club doing fun dressage days. Am we would learn to ride a test. PM we would ride a test and judge would do supportive comments. Lassie day used to be fun now it is a bit like Cowboy challenge and to challenging for the average Mum who rides once a week :) Some events to assist in the "Mums returning to riding" like polework aimed to get riders riding lines, focus on their position and having fun riding. Less social beach rides and weekday events are a nightmare for most parents.

No, you do a fantastic job, I always enjoy your sessions

Great club, wish I could be more engaged but there are too many personal limitations..

I know it's a riding club but I'm very interested in talks & presentations of all that is equine.

Less competitions and ribbons

Demonstrations by talented horsepeople from any discipline would be great to watch
